

Hidden Studios Art Tour will be "Staying Connected" with Central Wisconsin communities in a new way Oct. 2-4.

Submitted photo

Hidden Studios Art Tour stays connected

FOR THE CITY TIMES

STEVENS POINT
- Hidden Studios Art
Tour will be "Staying

Connected" with Central Wisconsin communities in a new way Oct. 2-4.

"During a typical year, multiple studios around Central Wisconsin would open their doors for guests to peruse and shop art, talk with the studio owners and guest artists, and enjoy the surrounding communities.

While the studio doors are closed for in-person viewing, they are open online for audience engagement during the three-day event," a tour release said.

Live artist demos and meet and greets will be hosted on Facebook, Instagram, and Zoom. Filmed studio tours will also be available on YouTube and Hidden Studios Art Tour's website, along with an online marketplace.

"Having to find a plan B, C, or even D is nothing new in an artist's creative process," said Hidden Studios Steering Committee member, Paul Klein. "This year, we will adapt and find new plans to share our work and highlight this close-knit, unique, and beautiful Central Wisconsin community."

Participating artists include: Curtis Archer-